

You steered your child away from touching the stove when they were little. They may no longer need supervision in the kitchen, but they still need your guidance.

Talk with your teen about the dangers of underage drinking.

KEEP SHOWING UP.
They're still growing up.

There are different ways you can make sure you're clear about not permitting your teenager to drink.

- Don't make alcohol available to your child or their friends. This isn't only a matter of safety, it is the law.
- Supervise any parties in your home to make sure there is no alcohol – and make sure your teens know the rules ahead of time. Learn more about social hosting laws and what they can mean for your personal liability in the event of underage drinking in the home.
- Is your child socializing at someone else's home? Know where they will be. Call the parents in advance to verify the occasion and location and that there will be supervision. If the activity seems inappropriate, express concern and keep your child home.
- Communicate your expectations and rules for when your teen goes out with friends, and include regular check-ins.

FOR MORE INFORMATION VISIT linktogethercoalition.org/parents

Funded in whole or in part by the Illinois Department of Human Services, Division of Substance Use Prevention and Recovery through a grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Service Administration.

